GENERAL

What is the NDIS?	Based on each individual's specific needs, the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) provides funding to Australians with disabilities. Through the NDIS, the government provides support to eligible Australians with a disability, as well as their families and carers. It is estimated that over the next 5 years, the NDIS will support around 500,000 Australians who have permanent and/or significant disabilities with the funding they need for necessary supports and services needed to live an ordinary life. More information can be found at: https://www.ndis.gov.au/understanding

What is SDA?	SDA or Specialist Disability Accommodation refers to a home that has specialist designs that cater specifically to people with special needs. This kind of specialist accommodation may also include factors such as location or specific features that assist in delivering access to support. Specialist Disability Accommodation (SDA) is one of the supports that may be funded under the NDIS, and each SDA property must be enrolled with the NDIA. All owners of SDA properties must be registered SDA providers.
What is SDA funding?	SDA funding refers to the funding that eligible NDIS participants may receive to cover the cost of living in an SDA home that provides the specialist design features a participant needs. SDA funding is paid directly to the registered SDA provider and is for the dwelling only. That is, it does not cover support costs (such as Supported Independent Living), which are assessed and funded separately by the NDIS. Eligible NDIS participants who have qualified for SDA funding in their NDIS plan can choose which SDA property they would like to live in from the available supply of SDA properties in the market. For more information go to: https://www.ndis.gov.au/specialist-disability-accommodation
